Dear Parents and Carers,

Our Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) consultation closed on Friday 20th November. The purpose of the consultation was to gather feedback on our reviewed RSE curriculum and also share with parents and carers what the curriculum will look like entering the academic year 2020-2021.

We have now reviewed these responses and I would like to thank all parents and carers who took the time to submit responses and complete the questionnaire. The responses gathered from parents were very positive about the proposed changes to our curriculum and the overwhelming consensus was that these changes reflected modern family living, and current and respectful thinking. They also provided us with valuable information in order to assist with the implementation of the new national guidelines that came into effect at the start of the Autumn Term.

As a result of the consultation, we will provide additional guidance for parents on how to speak to their children about RSE. This will include suggested responses to frequently asked questions and a link to the NSPCC Pantasaurus website.

Finally, please note that full curriculum documents are available on our school website so that parents and carers are able to view them as appropriate.

Thank you for your support.

Yours sincerely,

Laura Wallis and Nicole Gunby
(Headteacher) (Subject Leader for PSHE)
